COUNTRY	F	Approved For Release 2002/07/15: CIA-RDP80-00810A002200200067-8-08-47-7-8-00-41-00-8-25-8-47-7-8-00-41-00-8-47-8-8-47-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8-8
TOPIC	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , 	Ilitary Information from the Uranium Mining District.
EVALUATION 25X1A DATE OF CO
		25X1A DATE PREPARED 21 July 1953
		ENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)
egyages regressive au Machini sur uz eo ete vezet and the second s
COMMONS COMES ACCOUNT TO SUPER PROCESSION AND TO THE PARTY I	er a u gy age n yn ygent	25X1X
SOURCE
X1	. -
5X1	2.	installations of the Wismut-AG. These guards used to be released every
	2.	quartered about 240 soldiers who were black-bordered crimson epaulets. Ten dogs were also seen at the installation, which was guarded by a sentry posted at the gate and another one placed on a watch tower. About 7 a.m. on 23 June, guard details in the total strength of 58 men including 42 armed with rifles and 16 armed with submachine guns were seen at various 25 installations of the Wismut-AG. These guards used to be released every four hours beginning at 7 a.m.
		quartered about 240 soldiers who were black-bordered crimson epaulets. Ten dogs were also seen at the installation, which was guarded by a sentry posted at the gate and another one placed on a watch tower. About 7 a.m. on 23 June, guard details in the total strength of 53 men including 42 armed with rifles and 16 armed with submachine guns were seen at various installations of the Wismut-AG. These guards used to be released every four hours beginning at 7 a.m. were seen 25 were seen 25 were seen at various 25 were seen 25 were seen at the installation, which was fully lighted at night and guarded by two sentries, one placed at the gate and another one on a watch tower. At 6 5X1 5X1		quartered about 240 soldiers who were black-bordered crimson epaulets. Ten dogs were also seen at the installation, which was guarded by a sentry posted at the gate and another one placed on a watch tower. About 7 a.m. on 23 June, guard details in the total strength of 53 men including 42 armed with rifles and 16 armed with submachine guns were seen at various 25 installations of the Wismut-AG. These guards used to be released every four hours beginning at 7 a.m. On 22 and 23 June, the installation west of the Niederschlema-Aue railroad line quartered about 300 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets and six women in uniforms. A total of 25 officers were seen at the installation, which was fully lighted at night and guarded by two sentries, one placed at the gate and another one on a watch tower. At 6 a.m. on 22 June, source observed a change of shifts for those Soviet soldiers who are employed in various capacities by the Wismut-AG. Five busses and one truck each of them occupied by about 25 men armed with rifles left the installation. Twenty soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets and armed with rifles marched out of the installation while 75 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets also armed with rifles entered quartered about 240 soldiers who were black-bordered crimson epaulets. Ten dogs were also seen at the installation, which was guarded by a sentry posted at the gate and another one placed on a watch tower. About 7 a.m. on 23 June, guard details in the total strength of 53 men including 42 armed with rifles and 16 armed with submachine guns were seen at various 25 installations of the Wismut-AG. These guards used to be released every four hours beginning at 7 a.m. were seen 25 On 22 and 23 June, the installation west of the Niederschlema-Aue railroad line quartered about 300 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets and six women in uniforms. A total of 25 officers were seen at the installation, which was fully lighted at night and guarded by two sentries, one placed at the gate and another one on a watch tower. At 6 a.m. on 22 June, source observed a change of shifts for those Soviet soldiers who are employed in various capacities by the Wismut-AG. Five busses and one truck each of them occupied by about 25 men armed with rifles left the installation. Twenty soldiers with red-bordered black enaulets and armed with rifles marched out of the installation while 75